

A wound dressing comprising a moisture vapor pervious polyurethane matrix beveled from an especially central point of the wound dressing toward the edge.